PROFILE

Brand events specialist with 20+ years of experience designing, producing, and leading experiences that make complex ideas land in rooms. From founding a 140-person events agency in Dubai to delivering programmes at COP27, COP26, and COP29, my career has been defined by one constant: translating a brand's deepest convictions into physical and digital moments people remember.

I have worked across brand activations, thought leadership forums, policy summits, public festivals, and corporate conferences — managing everything from creative conceiving and spatial design to end-to-end production, vendor leadership, and post-event measurement. I build the playbooks and the teams that make quality scalable, and I am deeply comfortable with the kind of high-stakes, cross-functional environments where events carry real strategic weight.
